

What All Parents Need To Know To Survive The Drug Epidemic

The drug epidemic is a serious problem that affects families all over the country. In 2017, more than 70,000 people died from drug overdoses. That's more than the number of people who died in car accidents.

The drug epidemic is not just a problem for adults. In 2017, more than 1 million adolescents aged 12 to 17 used illicit drugs. And the number of teens who are using e-cigarettes is skyrocketing.

Addictions: What All Parents Need to Know to Survive the Drug Epidemic by Rev. Kevin T Coughlin

★★★★☆ 4.3 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 2261 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Lending : Enabled
Print length : 130 pages

If you are a parent, it is important to be aware of the drug epidemic and to take steps to protect your children. Here are some things you can do:

- Talk to your children about drugs. Let them know that you are concerned about their safety and that you want them to make healthy choices. Discuss the risks of drug use and the consequences of addiction.

- Set clear rules and expectations. Let your children know that drug use is not acceptable and that there will be consequences if they break the rules.
- Monitor your children's activities. Know where they are going, who they are with, and what they are doing.
- Be a role model. Children learn by watching the adults in their lives. If you want your children to make healthy choices, you need to make healthy choices yourself.
- Get help if you need it. If you are concerned about your child's drug use, don't hesitate to get help. There are many resources available to parents, including support groups, counseling, and treatment programs.

The drug epidemic is a serious problem, but it is one that we can overcome. By working together, we can keep our children safe and help them make healthy choices.

If you are looking for more information on the drug epidemic, I encourage you to read the book "What All Parents Need To Know To Survive The Drug Epidemic." This book is a comprehensive guide to the drug epidemic and provides parents with the information they need to keep their children safe.

The book covers a wide range of topics, including:

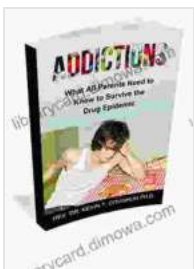

- The different types of drugs and their effects

- The signs and symptoms of drug abuse
- The risks of drug use
- The consequences of addiction
- How to talk to your children about drugs
- How to set clear rules and expectations
- How to monitor your children's activities
- How to be a role model
- How to get help if you need it

"What All Parents Need To Know To Survive The Drug Epidemic" is an essential resource for parents who want to keep their children safe from the dangers of drug abuse. I highly recommend this book to all parents.

The drug epidemic is a serious problem, but it is one that we can overcome. By working together, we can keep our children safe and help them make healthy choices.

Addictions: What All Parents Need to Know to Survive the Drug Epidemic by Rev. Kevin T Coughlin

★★★★☆ 4.3 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 2261 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Lending : Enabled
Print length : 130 pages

FREE

DOWNLOAD E-BOOK

Mother Goose The Old Nursery Rhymes Illustrated By Arthur Rackham

A Journey Through the Enchanted Gardens of Childhood In the tapestry of childhood memories, the enchanting melodies and whimsical tales of Mother Goose hold a cherished...

Unleash the Power of Imagination: Exploring the Enchanting World of Dogrun, by Arthur Nersesian

A Literary Adventure into the Realm of Dreams In the realm of literary imagination, where dreams take flight and the impossible becomes...